

PRIVACY POLICY

CORPORATE EXPATRIATE BANKING

Updated June 6, 2024

By means of this Privacy Policy | Corporate Expatriate Banking, EagleBank (hereinafter “we”, “us”, “our”) wishes to provide you with relevant information about the data privacy-related aspects of our Corporate Expatriate Banking products and services.

If you are looking for information on how EagleBank processes personal information in the context of other products and services, you are kindly referred to our general Privacy Policy, available here.

If you are looking for information on how we process personal information via cookies and similar technologies, you are kindly referred to our Cookie Policy, available here.

This Privacy Policy may be amended or updated to reflect relevant changes. To know when this Privacy Policy was last updated, please refer to the date indicated above. Any change made to this Privacy Policy will take effect upon publication on our Corporate Expatriate Banking website.

1. Responsible entities

The entities that are responsible for the processing of your personal information are EagleBank and Eagle Bancorp, Inc., with corporate headquarters at 7830 Old Georgetown Road, 3rd Floor, Bethesda, MD 20814, United States of America.

2. Why do we process your personal information?

In this section, we describe how we may process your personal information for one of the purposes described below.

2.1. Pre-contractual information

When you get in touch with us to learn more about our Corporate Expatriate Banking products and services, or when your personal information is provided to us to inform you about such products and services, we will process your personal information as necessary to provide you with such information.

2.2. Corporate Expatriate Banking account opening

When you apply for a Corporate Expatriate Banking account, we will process your personal information as necessary to process your request, including conducting any checks that are required to comply with applicable regulations, to open such account. Without this personal information, we would not be able to open the account.

2.3. Relationship management

Based on our interest to build, maintain and manage relationships with our customers, your personal information may be included in our customer relationship management database, so we can communicate with you in a structured and organized manner.

In case our communications are considered as “direct marketing” under applicable regulation, we will ensure that we have a proper legal basis, such as consent, for such processing.

2.4. Other interactions

If you contact us by email, phone, message, or any other means for other purposes than the ones described above, we will process your personal information to follow up on such communication.

2.5. Compliance

In addition to the processing of your personal information for the purposes set out above, we may process your personal information for our interest to audit or otherwise verify that our internal processes function as intended and are compliant with applicable laws, regulatory requirements, or contractual obligations, so that we can keep our assets and business safe from misuse and illegal activity, and to enforce our policies.

We may also process your personal information to comply with applicable legal obligations or to comply with regulatory requests.

Furthermore, we may process your personal information in the context of corporate operations, including any form of reorganization, based on our interest to conduct our business in good faith.

3. With whom do we share your personal information?

All financial companies need to share customers’ personal information to run their everyday business.

Your personal information may be processed on our behalf by third parties providing business support services, such as direct mailing, website hosting, etc.

We may also disclose your personal information to third parties who assist us in the context of disputes and litigation, such attorneys or insurers in the context of legal proceedings, or to protect our property, safety, people and other rights and interests.

Additionally, we may also disclose your personal information to third parties in the context of a business reorganization, e.g., to prospective purchasers of shares or companies with which we may merge, or which may wish to acquire all or part of our business or assets.

We may also be required to disclose your personal information to law enforcement bodies, regulators, agencies or third parties under a legal requirement or court order.

Please consult our general Privacy Policy, available here, to get more detailed information on reasons why we can share your personal information, as well as on the means to limit such sharing.

4. International data transfers

Since we are a U.S.-based financial company, when you provide us with your personal information, or when it is provided to us by others, your personal information will be processed in the U.S.

We do not transfer your personal information to other countries outside the U.S., unless such transfer is required for providing our Corporate Expatriate Banking products or services, e.g., when communicating with you when you are abroad, or when communicating with your employer or other interested parties located abroad.

5. For how long do we store your personal information?

We store your personal information for as long as necessary for the purposes for which the personal information is collected and processed, as described in Section 2 above and for the length of time we are required to retain personal information in order to comply with applicable legal and regulatory requirements.

6. Your data privacy-related rights

Under the conditions foreseen in the applicable data privacy regulation, and if and insofar as they apply, you have the right to request access to and rectification or erasure of your personal information, to restriction of processing, and to data portability.

Under the conditions foreseen in the applicable data privacy regulation, and if and insofar as they apply, where the processing is based on consent, you have right to withdraw consent at any time.

Under the conditions foreseen in the applicable data privacy regulation, and if and insofar as they apply, you have the right to object, on grounds relating to your particular situation, at any time to processing of your personal information which is based on our legitimate interests, including profiling based on those provisions. Where information is processed for direct marketing purposes, you have the right to object at any time to processing of your personal information for such marketing, which includes profiling to the extent that it is related to such direct marketing.

Under the conditions foreseen in the applicable data privacy regulation, and if and insofar as they apply, you also have the right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority.

You can exercise these rights by contacting us as indicated in section 7 “How to contact us?” below.

7. How to contact us?

You can contact us by letter to EagleBank Data Privacy Department, 6010 Executive Boulevard, Rockville, Maryland 20852, United States of America, or via our toll free number 1-800-364-8313 – select option #7. You can also log on to your personal online banking account at www.eaglebankcorp.com and select “Secure Messaging” under Self Service. Choose the topic “Privacy Opt-Out” from the drop down box.